Dear Hiring Representative,

I am applying to the position of Sr Clinical Research Coordinator (Fresno) with the University of California San Francisco that I saw posted on the UCSF employment website. As someone who wants to continue my higher education into research, this position offers a great opportunity for me to continue working and developing my skill as a research professional, particularly in the clinical field.

As you will see on my resume, I have over 5 years of research experience, ranging from the sciences of environmental to the human conscious of Psychology. In regards to clinical research experiences, I am currently a lead research assistant for the Children's Hospital of Los Angeles' sports concussion clinic under supervision of my clinical supervisor. My main role involves inputting data from very confidential and sensitive patient information in the medical database to hopefully analyze findings in the coming year. I am also a graduate co-lead research assistant at my master's graduate school studying aggression. I have helped create, design, distributed, and analyzed several studies involving social exclusion and aggression. This summer, I recently completed a summer 2022 research as a Sally Casanova Pre-doctoral Scholar under supervision of a professor of psychology who works with the clinical population of juvenile youths mental health and recidivism. In this role, I worked on publishing a paper analyzing juvenile youths and their mental health with interventions.

I would welcome the opportunity to review my qualifications and background in great detail. Please feel free to call me at (phone number) or reach me by email at (email). I look forward to hearing back from you. Thank you very much for your consideration

Sincerely,

Yeng Vue
